Joe,
Let's flag the stores that are above the "Small" thresholds for oxycodone, oxy 30, and those above 20% oxy 30. That would be a good starting point for getting additional data from Walgreen's.

Attached is the spreadsheet, updated with a tab called Average Oxycodone Usage. It's sorted by store, with average tablets per month and sorted by 30mg usage. Currently, there are 116 stores that purchase more than 4,000 tablets of 30mg per month. I've also included the percentage of 30mg to all oxycodone; for comparison, ABC's national average for this same time period was 9.7%. Once this number starts to climb above twice that, say 20% or so, I start to get concerned.

Thanks,
